Atlasul Vinului Românesc
THE ROMANIAN WINE ATLAS

Welcome to the Romanian Wine Tasting Event 28th of November 2023

A warm welcome to all our guests gathered here today as we join together to celebrate the Romanian wine, a highlight of our National Day 2023 festivities in Dublin. I am particularly thrilled to acknowledge the presence of a large number of wine producers from Romania, who have travelled to Dublin to share their exceptional creations, as well as of the key players in the Irish wine trade.

This Romanian Wine Tasting Event organized by the Romanian Embassy in Ireland has a scope and size that has no precedent. This would have not been possible without the dedication, hard work, commitment and love of wine of Iulian Barbuceanu, the visionary behind "the Romanian Wine Atlas". He skilfully gathered around him a passionate team of Romanian wine producers and specialists who, along with a number of sponsors, supported this unique Romanian Wine Tasting Event from Day One. At the same time, myself and the Embassy relied extensively on the knowledge and expertise of Jean Smullen WSET Dip, whose comprehensive commercial experience in the wine industry was key to our endeavour to engage with the representatives of the Irish wine trade.

This gathering serves not only as a celebration of Romania's rich cultural heritage, but also as a spotlight on our nation's standing as one of the most exciting and significant wine-producing countries globally. Romania, sadly unknown or unfamiliar to many, possesses a captivating history, a plethora of indigenous grape varieties, and diverse producing regions that lend it a distinctive sense of place and personality. Dating back to the Greeks' introduction of the vine between 600-500 BC, Romania currently holds the impressive ranks of 5th in Europe and 10th worldwide for the total hectares of vineyards planted.

The Romanian wine producers that are present today in Dublin in such a large number to find representation in the Irish market present a splendid opportunity for Irish importers and distributors to explore the richness and diversity of Romanian wines. Featuring indigenous varieties such as Zghihară de Huși, Șarba, Mustoasă de Măderat, Fetească albă, Fetească regală, Tămâioasa românească, Columna, Golia, Selena, Fetească neagră, Busuioacă de Bohotin, Cadarcă or Negru de Drăgășani, alongside other internationally well know varieties, these wines showcase exceptional quality.

Noroc! Slăinte!

Dr. Laurențiu-Mihai Ștefan
Ambassador of Romania to Ireland

Dear All,

I am very excited to be present at such an extensive wine tasting of Romanian wines.

There is clearly a great deal of support from the producers behind this event and therefore this is a unique opportunity not to be missed.

The Romanian wine industry has evolved rapidly in the last 10 years and there has been an extensive investment in the vineyards and wineries. There are producers that are concentrating on choosing the grape varieties suited to their individual terroir, producing a wine that is unique to them, with a story to tell. Although there are still plenty of plantings with international varieties that are made in a style for the international palate, there is an increasing focus on indigenous varieties. This is great to see and to be encouraged as it offers a point of difference in a such a crowded market.

In 2023 there has been a shortage in plenty of classic regions but Romania is one of the countries with a good volume crop and an increase on the average last 5 years.

This is a great time to come and taste a diverse range of wines, meet some of the producers behind the wines and learn a bit more about an industry which is rapidly evolving.

Looking forward to seeing you at the event,

Ana Săpungiu MW

As part of Romania's National Day celebrations, the Embassy in partnership with Atlasul Vinului Românesc (The Atlas of Romanian Wine) is organising an event on the 28th of November to showcase and promote Romanian wines. This event is specifically tailored for Irish wine importers, retailers, wine shops, restaurants, and off-licences, professionals in the wine industry, including sommeliers and journalists specialising in the wine trade. With a selection of over 200 wine labels from more than 50 Romanian wineries and brands, this event aims at highlighting Romanian wine as a successful product of our country's economy and as a core part of its national brand.

This event is part of the Embassy's endeavours to position Romanian wine as a distinctive and high-quality offering while fostering meaningful connections between Romanian wine producers and key players in the Irish import and distribution sectors. Hopefully, this event will contribute to increasing the presence of Romanian wine on the Irish market.

Let's talk business

Top representatives from 24 brands (wineries, distributors and wine brands) will arrive in Dublin to tell the stories behind the new Romanian wines that have gained international interest in the last years.

All the producers present are seeking representation on the Irish market

Besides the 24 brands whose representatives attend the event in person, 28 other brands will be jointly represented by some of the best sommeliers and professionals from Romania at 4 general stalls: The Fizz, The Whites, The Rosé and The Reds.

See on the next page the full list of the companies and brands that will have their own management, sales or marketing teams present at the event. The information is grouped by the Romanian wine region where the businesses are based.

The Labels

More than 200 available for tasting.

See below a list of the labels available for tasting. Each label has been assigned a specific number. Write down before the event a list of all the numbers of interest and look for them on the bottles at the event or ask our sommeliers where to find them fast.

The information is grouped by TYPE (sparkling/still) > Variety (single/blend) > Wine region > DOC > Brand/Producer > Label table location at the event. Around 10 to 20 more labels may be available at the event; this document was distributed before all the labels were supplied.
